those enrolled.

- A curriculum tailored to the interests and linguistic backgrounds of the students who enroll
- Hone your creative writing with two experienced poet-translators
- Great for students working in international relations, area studies, global business, international law, and languages
- Students' best work may be published in DoubleSpeak, a national literary magazine of translation
- Each student will pick a poet to focus on and share with the class as we work together to render their work in translation

No problem is as consubstantial with literature and its modest mystery as the one posed by translation. -- Jorge Luis Borges
