

Request for Time Conflict

Typically, Time Conflicts are not approved. Time Conflicts for courses offered in the same time block will not be permitted. As usual, if the conflict is due to a senior design that meets infrequently, conflicts will be considered with the approval of instructors from both classes. Please note: You must submit a Permit Request in PATH in addition to this form. Be sure to note "Time Conflict" in the comments section of the PATH form.

- Time Conflict forms must be received by the end of the add deadline.
- Time Conflict requests cannot be processed or resolved during the advance registration period.
- This form and a Permit Request submitted through PATH@Penn requesting the conflict is required for review and approval by the Office of Academic Services (OAS). You must send a copy of this form to academic-services@seas.upenn.edu with the subject Request for Time Conflict.
- Penn Engineering can only approve engineering course time conflicts.
- Conflict rules will override instructor and/or departmental approval.

These course conflict rules are being applied consistently across all four undergraduate schools.
